

SSEA Pre-conference

Sex and Romance: Does the Relationship Matter?

Program

- 1:00-1:35 pm Networking reception with coffee & tea
- 1:35-1:45 pm Introduction by Professor Jennifer Connolly, PhD, York University, Canada

Session 1: Formal Presentation

- 1:45-2:45 pm Manfred van Dulmen, PhD, Kent State University, USA
Title: Developmental Science of Romance and Sex during the late teens and twenties: Myths and Truths
- 2:45-3:00 pm Mini Break

Session 2: Innovative Methods Panel Discussion

- 3:00-3:15 pm Daphne Van de Bongardt, PhD, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Topic: Using speed dating approach at a large scale three-day music festival
- 3:15-3:30 pm Shannon Claxton, PhD, Morningside College, USA
Topic: Event based data: How collecting data around holidays (e.g., Halloween) can improve our understanding of sexual behavior during emerging adulthood.
- 3:30-3:45 pm Jerika Norona, MS, University of Tennessee, USA
Topic: Using mixed methods in the study of sex and romance: The utility of qualitative data.
- 3:45-4:00 pm Adriana Manago, PhD, Western Washington University, USA
Topic: Using social media as a window into emerging adults' social constructions of gender and sexuality.
- 4:00-4:20 pm Discussion by Professor Eva Lefkowitz, PhD, Pennsylvania State University, USA
- 4:20- Networking

Date: Wednesday, October 14th, 2015

Location: To be announced

Moderator: Rongqin Yu, PhD, Utrecht University, The Netherlands